Acknowledgment

7O THE countless persons who aided us in realizing our dream of a 1943 edition of The Huntingtonian, we, the members of the Senior Class, wish to express our sincere thanks.

We are especially grateful to our advertisers who despite their excessive volume of business so willingly placed advertisements in our book; to our parents and friends who lent financial assistance and to our advisors whose vision and expert guidance helped make this book possible.

SSSBUTTS

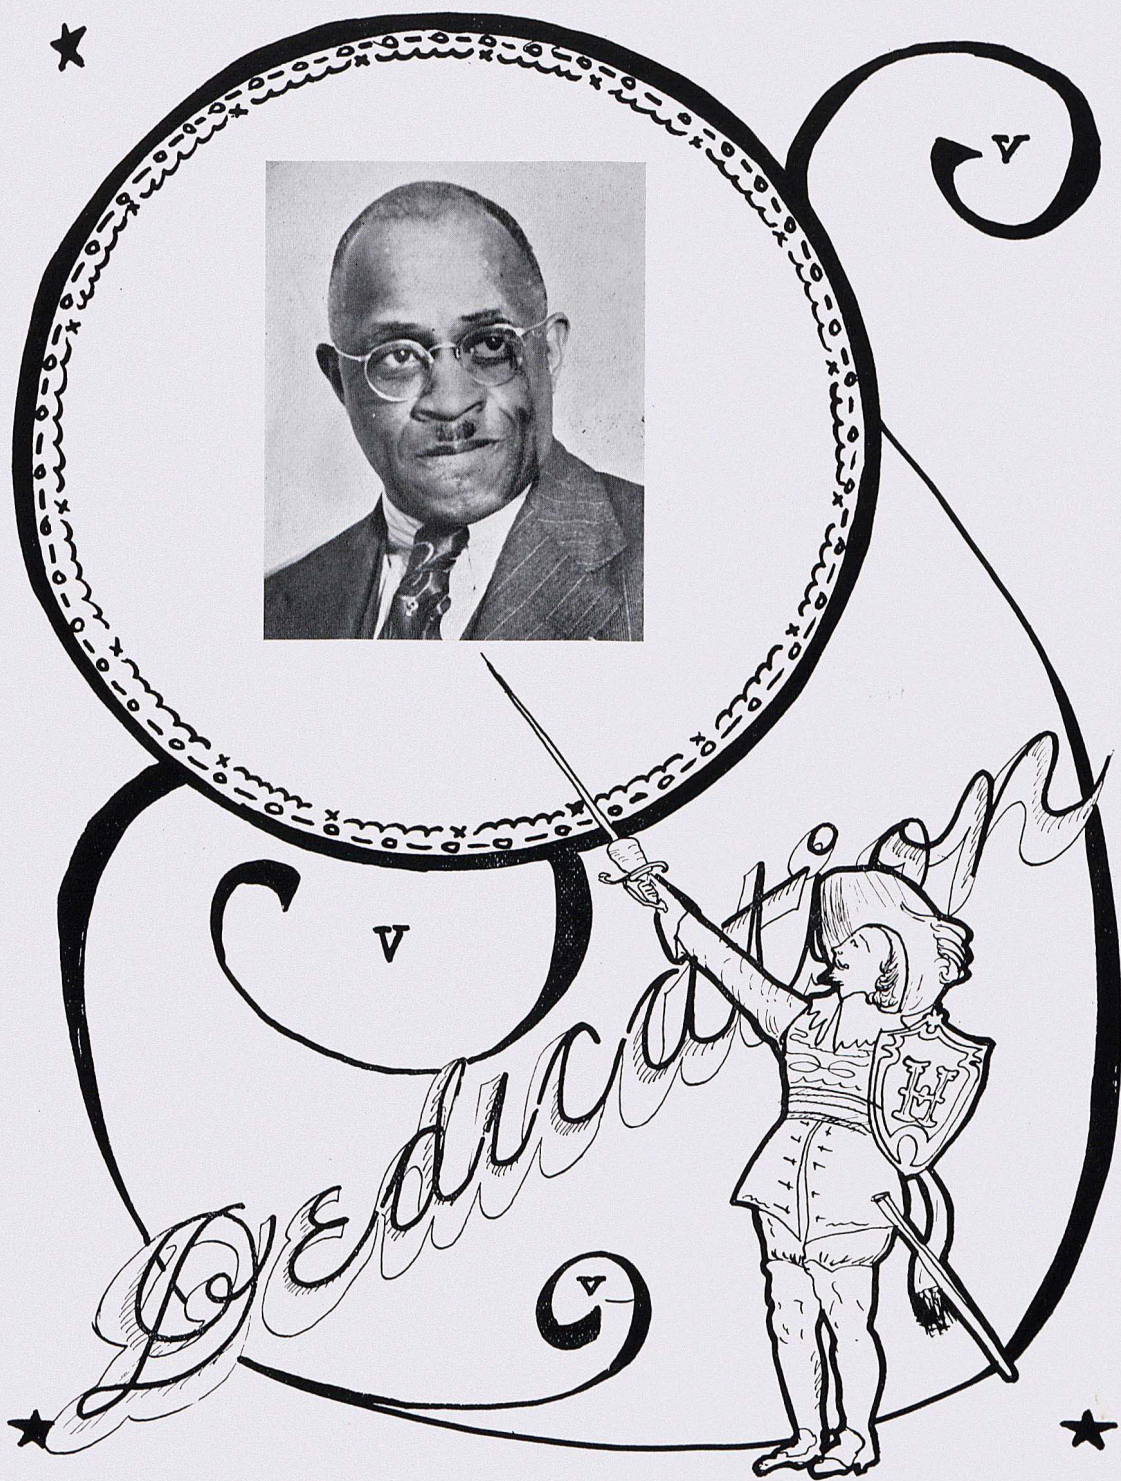

THE LOVE and admiration
we bear toward our Alma Mater are the major factors which have prompted us to create this book.
Through the media of words and pictures we have attempted to capture the spirit and reflection of life at Huntington High School so that you, too, dear reader, might share with us our rich experiences.

HUNTINGTONIAN STAFF

More pleasant and joyous than any other experience of our high school days has been that of editing our Yearbook. The task has not been easy but by a combination of zeal, enthusiasm, and talent on the part of the staff, we know the thrills which accompany a job well done.

The Principals Message

My Dear Young Friends:

You are leaving high school to enter a world the like of which has never been known before. The awful specter of war spreads its grim shadow over the entire globe, and whether we are on the battle front or the home front we cannot escape active participation in this titanic conflict. The condition of our times will seriously affect your future. Boys who had planned college careers must postpone further training for army service. Many of the girls whose parents have carefully planned their college education will find themselves in offices and factories because of the shortage of manpower. Americans of all races, creeds, and national origin must join hands in this supreme effort to crush the evil forces of oppression and bring victory to our cause so that democracy shall not perish from the earth.

You who have spent four years at Huntington High School are better schooled in the ways of democracy than most high school graduates of your race. You know full well that democracy in its practical operation in this country is far from perfection. This is especially true in its application to persons of your race and mine. Your experiences in this school, however, have proved to you that democracy is a practical and satisfying way of life. You have been made to see that if democracy can function in a school community; if we can live together here in peace and cooperation with mutual respect and regard for each other's rights and privileges; if we can share decisions and responsibilities in our school community, there is hope that these elements of democracy can be made to work in the larger communities of the city, the state, and the nation.

As you go forth, then, to do your bit in the Army, the Navy, the office, the factory, or to further training, remember always that it is your patriotic duty not only to fight for the preservation of democracy in the world, but also to do everything in your power to improve its operation in our country to the end that all men of whatever race, creed or color may share its blessings alike.

History

CLASS HISTORY

FROM DUNBAR and Booker T. there gathered in September of 1939 in the gymnasium of Huntington High School some one hundred and thirty freshmen, eager and ready to be integrated into the activities of the School. Along with these newcomers arrived several new faculty members.

After listening to inspiring words of welcome by our principal, and watching the upperclassmen depart to their various classes, we were herded into four groups and ushered to the adjoining building to the rooms of Messrs. Raney, Davis, Hines, and Robinson. These, we learned, were to be our homerooms and these men our homeroom teachers. Aided by our homeroom and subject teachers, we soon became orientated and in time desirable citizens of Huntington. Only two activities, the Band and Boy Scouts, were open to us lowerclassmen. A few of our number affiliated with these organizations and the rest of us conscientiously devoted ourselves to our studies and became known as fairly good students. Occupied by work and study, we passed the first year. Summer vacation came and fairly whizzed by, and we were back in school again.

We were no longer "greenhorns" but sophisticated "Sophs" who knew what high school life was all about. You can imagine our joy at being able to sit back peacefully and watch the confusion and the expressions of bewilderment on the faces of the "Freshies" as they beheld the antics of their "betters" and listened to the incessant jangle of innumerable bells.

This second year found us anxious to engage in school activities. When the opportunity came, more than half of our class took advantage of it. Some entered athletics; others engaged in oratory and drama; and a large group joined the Band, Orchestra, and Choir.

At last came the time to which everybody had looked forward for years. Oh, to be a Junior! In our opinion this carried with it all the prestige and honor needed to continue our high school careers. Juniors! How sweet the name sounded to us! For our class officers we selected Ruth McRae, President; Rudolph Pearson, Vice President; Neider Brown, Secretary; Charles Reed, Assistant Secretary; Yulis Joe, Treasurer. To us the most important event of this year was the Junior and Senior Prom which was held at the Community Center, Aberdeen Gardens. We can never forget the beauty of the scene and the good time we had.

During our Junior Year great forward steps were made in athletics and in the musical and scholastic fields.

It was during this period that the realities of war came home to us. Many of our beloved faculty members, classmates and friends were called to serve in the various branches of the armed forces.

Then it seemed only a few days until we were Seniors entering upon the last stretch of our high school career. We elected Ruth McRae once again as our President; Metz Rollins, Vice President; Marion Washington, Secretary;

CLASS HISTORY

Neider Brown, Assistant Secretary; Thomas Fallen, Treasurer.

Our interest in school activities continued and we count among our number six members of the 1943 Football Squad: Leroy Smith, Captain; James Midgett Parker, George Prince, Kenneth Travis, Joe Person, and Clarence Johnson.

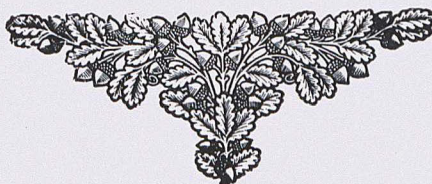

On the Basketball Team, we were ably represented by Joe Person, Clarence Johnson, James Sweringer, and Larry Byrd. The class decided to publish a Yearbook and selected Alice King, Charles Reed, and Leonard Ballou to head the Editorial Staff. Those able "AD getters," William Birchette, William Brown, Raymond Carter, Thaddeus Hayes, Joe Rainey, and Midgett Parker gave us one of the largest budgets in the history of the school.

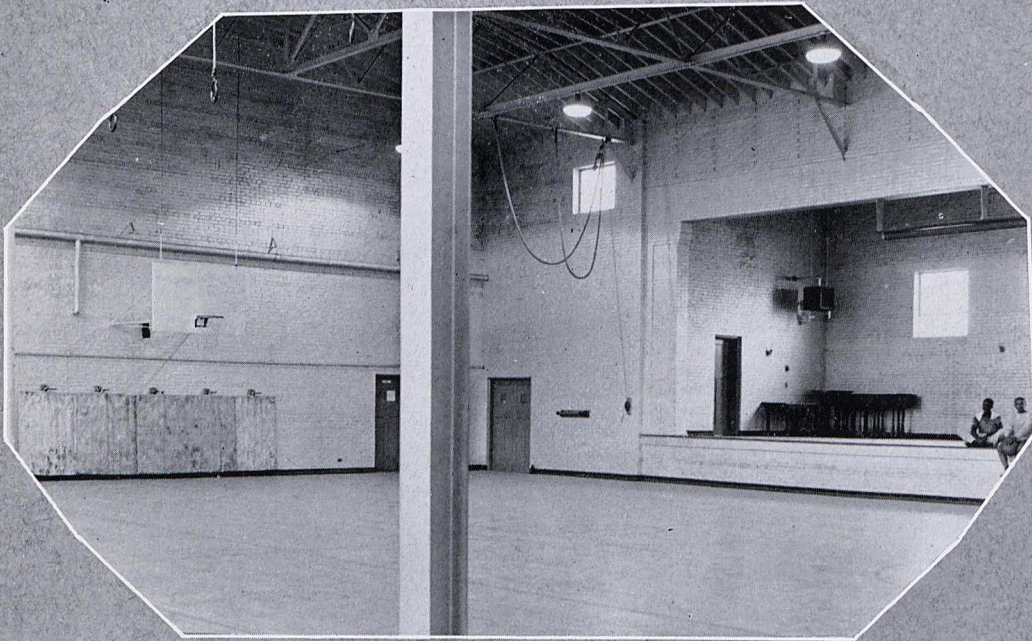

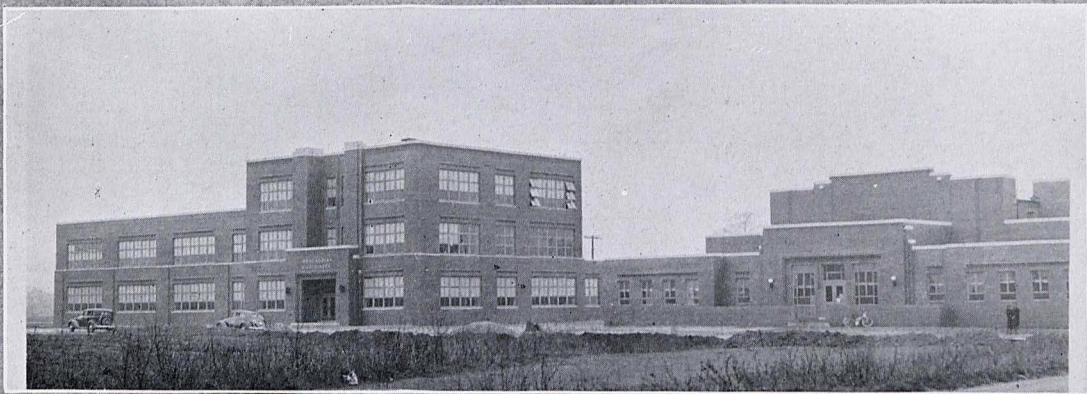

Among other of our achievements, we boast of enlarging and editing the largest and best issues of "The Huntington Mirror." This chronicle could not close without mentioning The Huntingtonians, the school's swing orchestra, composed of Seniors and the success they experienced.

As we look back over the four years that have transpired since we first entered Huntington High School, we are impressed by the swiftness with which the years have passed and the steady progress that our school has made.

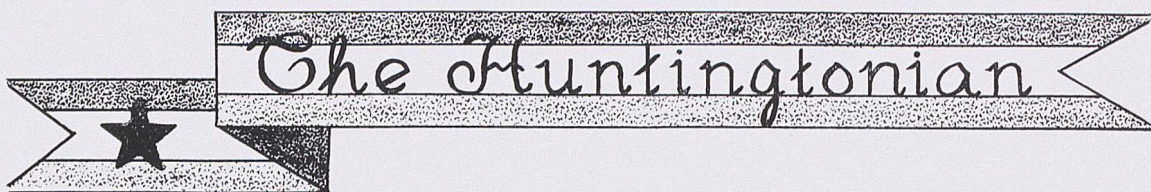

Marriage, romance, and grim war itself have snatched many of our members but those who remain have steadily forged ahead. As our graduation day approaches, we face it with a feeling of joy mingled with sadness, but with the knowledge that Huntington has done much to prepare us to take our places in our chosen walks of life. Whatever life may bring us, we shall always remain true to the high ideals and traditions of Huntington High School.

CLASS WALL

CLASS WILL

DESPITE THE headaches caused by Refresher Math and Physics, the worries over point rationing, and imminent induction into the armed forces, we, the members of the Senior Class, have succeeded in maintaining our mental stability and do on this, the First Day of June, declare this to be our last will and testament.

To Dr. Palmer and the members of the faculty, we leave our sincere thanks for their patience with our foibles and the interest they have manifested in us during our sojourn in high school.

After asking his acquaintances which one of his many precious possessions he should leave, Lawrence Birchette has decided to will his special interest in Texanna Watford to Howard Alston. Take good care of her, Alston, because Birchette will still be waiting and watching.

Midgett Parker, the soap box orator, leaves his ability along this line to Lawrence Brown for use in the Junior Class meetings and in the Student Council.

Rosemary Keyes, the sweet singing angel of the Senior Class, bequeaths her position as soloist of the Choir to Violet Boone.

Irene Williams, Rosie Lee Allen, and Mollie Williamson will their stack of fan mail marked "Army mail—postage free" to the English 8 Class to be used as models for the time honored love notes.

The Rainey Brothers, Joe and Smith; the Riddicks, Lloyd and Linwood; and George Prince leave this choice bit of advice, "He who is afraid of doing too much always does too little."

Julia Artis and Leon Price with their accustomed generosity leave Huntington with regret but with solemn vows never to return.

Arthur Anderson, Sterling Pelham, and Linwood Williamson leave their most cherished possessions, their girl friends, here to enjoy school life a few more years.

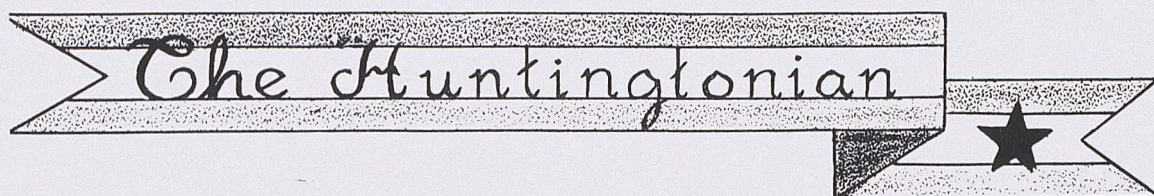

Edward Sterling and Richard Blount bequeath their sparkling wit which is so seldom appreciated by their teachers to "Drip" Patterson, Carry on "Drip"; you may land an MGM contract.

Lacie Daniels is proving quite kind; he wills his "ponies" to anyone in the 1944 Class who has a similar aversion to study.

The twins, Mary and Sarah McQueen, bequeath their fame on the Basketball court to Mildred Elam, Esther Ruffin, and Shirley Hundley. They feel that with the speed these three have, if used right, Huntington's girl's quintet will win state-wide recognition.

Mary Watkins, Katie Newby, Martha Brown, Agnes Evans, and Pearl Cunningham leave places in the Tri-Hi-Y Club to some members of the Sophomore Class who need another interest in School besides boy friends.

Rudolph Pearson, Mary and Marion Washington, Marian Ashe, and Willie Threatt leave their silent and attentive manner in class to Rudolph Diggs. Much obliged, we hoped someone would.

Grace Brooks, Ruth McRae, Thomas Fallen, Eva Wynne, and Marie Keller bequeath their string of A's and B's to Cornelius Gilchrist. Maybe with this combination of grades you may graduate before 1990.

Lloyd Mines admits he doesn't have very much but his diploma, and he feels that that is too precious to give away.

Inez Banks, Katie Watford, Marie Davis, and James Timberlake state that they have had a wonderful time in Huntington and so they are willing the keys to their happiness to Marjorie Bailey so that she too may get some joy out of life.

Leola Mitchell and Louise Askew say if they decide to will anything to anyone it will be their fashionable coiffures to Ann Hairston.

Esther Mae Harris, Laura Harper, and Birtel Crump would like to leave their beautiful dispositions to Vera Harris and Mildred Broadnax but are afraid to trust the girls with them. Mildred and Vera might spoil them.

Phillip Moore and Ralph Sayles, the Romeos of Huntington, leave their title and dashing ways to Richard Bullock, a slow but mighty man.

Neider Brown informs us that she makes no legacy because she is taking Dear Charles with her.

William Brown, Yulius Joe, Harold Dickerson, Andrew Lucas, Doris Wade, Raymond Carter, and Edward Wilkins, will their places in the Band to any persons who can wear their uniforms.

Metz Rollins, Charles Reed, and James Grey leave a few inches of their height to be divided equally between James Gilchrist and Marjorie Freeman.

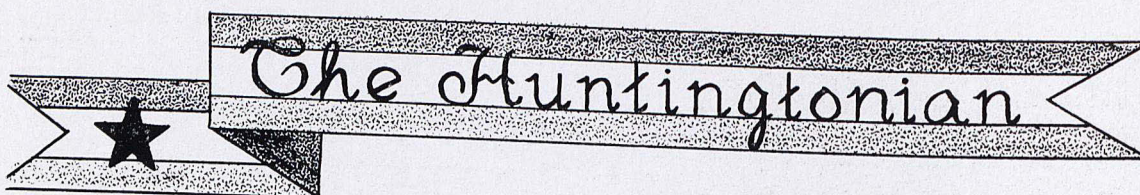

Willis Drummond leaves his knowledge of radios to Harold Moore. We think it might aid you to pass the course, Harold.

Joseph Jones bequeaths his ability to sleep in classes to all lovers of night life.

Karl Ward and Roselyn Cobb leave this bit of counsel, "Don't be a school pest." Of course, we didn't follow our own advice, but who does?

Alice King and Samuel Butts will their positions as Editor-in-Chief and Art Editor, respectively, of the 1943 Huntingtonian, to any hardworking Junior. Luck to anyone who wants to tackle the jobs.

To Lithia Boone and Celestine Price goes Ruth Jordan's, Dora Reid's, Jamesette Smith's and Lorraine Hampton's gift of gab.

CLASS WILL

Lorraine Lockett, Dora Purdie, and Catherine Scott will their one pleasure in life, giggling, to all persons who see only the dark side of life.

For Irene King and Marian Palmer is Helen Harris' and Mary Russell's motto, "A slip of the lip will sink a ship."

Ruth Bowers, Sarah Copeland, Doris Crowder, and Bertie Criss will their lady-like manners and even tempers to Ellen Crowder, Doris' small but pugilistic sister.

Leonard Ballou leaves his vocabulary and studious habits to Clarence Wallace.

Leroy Smith, Kenneth Travis, and Joe Person will their positions on the gridiron to William Darden. Keep up the good work, Darden.

Thaddeus Hayes says all he has is his melodious tenor and he'll need that for the Choir at Carver Memorial Church.

James Sweringer and Nevaniel Black leave their brotherly love to Bud Holley and John Parker.

Charles Hamlin bequeaths his ability to consume enormous lunches to Peggy Davis. We hope this nourishment may cause you to add a few pounds, Peggy.

To Jean Williams are left some of those many packages Mary Underwood used to carry to school. We thought you might like something to carry since you never have any books to take home.

Willie Ruffin and Ethel Adams bequeath their positions as Bulletin Carriers to all hall walkers. Maybe that will give you a legitimate excuse for staying in the halls.

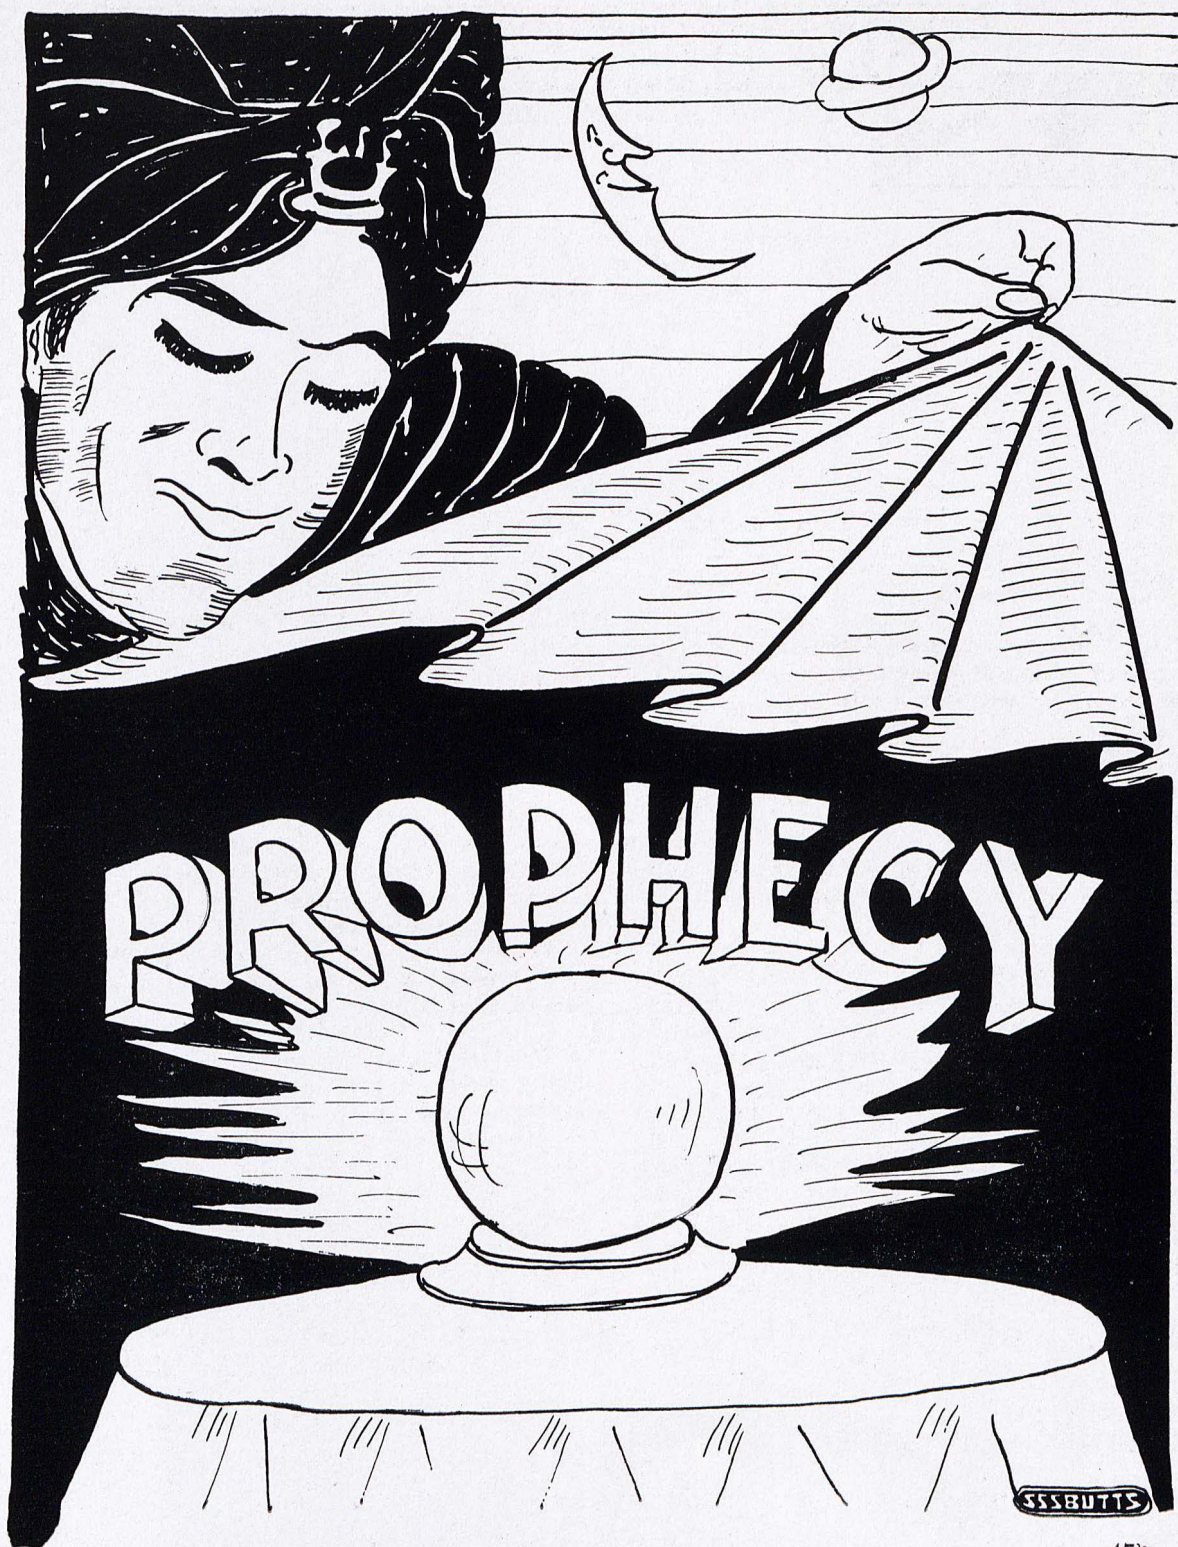

Margaret Carr, Evelyn Parker, Cornetta Knox, and Evelyn Taylor leave their model citizenship record to Delores Chambers.

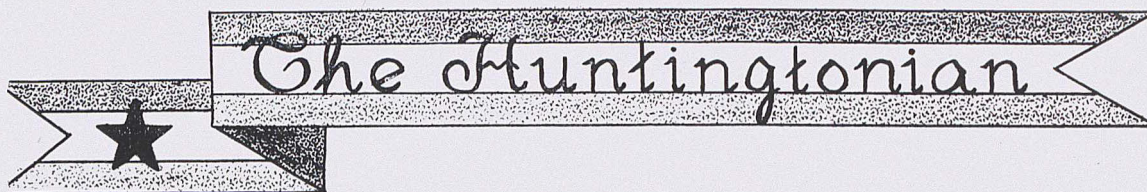

Cora Spratley and Olga Warren will to Cora's little sister, Evangeline, their ability to get along with people. Now don't get offended, Evangeline.

Morrina Coppedge, and Vernell Banks who actually got up nerve enough to talk aloud one day leave their quiet and unobtrusive ways to Alethia Crump and Mabel Stith.

Laura Holloman and Odessa Edward bequeath their places in the cafeteria to Orlando Boddie. We thought maybe Orlando would be able to reduce his cafeteria bill.

 James Knight and Frank Ritchie bequeath to the Drama Class their collection of jokes.

PROPHECY

Dear Ethel:

I'm in a dreadful hurry, but I must take time between planes to scribble a few lines to you. I forgot to say I'm on my way to Sydney, Australia, to visit the Carter's—Raymond and Bertie Criss. You know Raymond went over there in the early 40's with an Anti-Aircraft Division, liked it so well he decided to stay. Now he operates a fashionable Night Club and features the "Carter Dandies" nightly. In the orchestra are many of the former Band members: Andrew Lucas, William Brown, Yulis Joe, Arthur Anderson, Doris Wade and Cornetta Knox, pianist. My! My! What praise they do bestow upon Mr. Ballou.

I recently heard from Rev. J. Metz Rollins and Rev. Thomas Fallen, Chaplains with the United States Army of Occupation in Africa. It's said that their weekly services attract great crowds of civilians as well as soldiers. Among the most frequent visitors are the Riddicks, The Rainey's, George Prince, "Duke" Reed, Lacie Daniels, and Karl Ward. (Miracles will never cease.) During a very hot battle these saw the light and have continued to walk the straight and narrow path.

Stationed in Africa are the following WAACS: Third Officers Ruth McRae and Martha Brown and members, Mary Underwood, Vernell Diggs, Lorraine Hampton, Catherine Scott, Eva Mae Wynne, Mary and Marion Washington, Laura Holloman, and Katie Newby. As usual, Martha and Ruth are in command. Of course, they are good because they got practice giving orders to the Tri-Hi-Y's and Seniors while at school.

Oh! Yes! Dr. and Mrs. Linwood Williamson, the former Leola Mitchell, are now in Honolulu; Dr. Williamson has charge of the base hospital there, but Leola says he can't practice for practicing the Hula Hula with those native beauties. You wouldn't believe it because here he never seemed to have eyes for anyone but Ernestine. Most of the work in the hospital is done by his assistants, Drs. James Grey and Charles Hamlin and the nurses, Birthell Crump, Katie Watford, and Rosa Lee Allen. The Superintendent of Nurses is Mollie, (It's all in the family, Isn't it?) I know what you are thinking. After all those red carnations from Waycross, Georgia, Mollie didn't marry Alphonso.

The plane is in so I must board it and claim my seat.

Of all the luck! Whom should I meet but Sarah Copeland and Odessa Edwards, Air Hostesses. After they got the people settled they seated themselves near me and Odessa began to rattle off. You know how she can talk. She said, "Ace" Parker, Joe Person, and 'Bill' Drummond, were commercial pilots, flying weekly from New York to London. On her last trip she took Leonard Ballou and Rose Marie Keyes. They were going to London to begin their joint concert tour. Huntington must be proud of them."

Just imagine, Olga Warren and Gladys Askew owning a fashionable dress establishment on Jefferson Avenue. Ruth Jordan, Helen Harris and Inez Banks are the chief models.

Flash! Mrs. Rudolph Pearson nee Grace Brooks has won her third divorce. (And she was so quiet and sedate in school. You never know, do you?) Grace's lawyer was Neider Brown.

Bye now,

ALICE

Virginia State Teachers Association To Be Held At Maggie Walker Hi School

"The Education of Negroes in a Nation at War" will be the theme of the 55th annual convention of Virginia State Teachers Association meeting on November 25, 26, and 27 at the Maggie Walker High School in Richmond, Va.

Dr. L. F. Palmer, Executive Secretary of the Association stated that a large delegation is expected and for them a program of unusual magnitude and interest has been prepared.

Among the many outstanding educators appearing on the program are: Dr. Mordcai Johnson, President of Howard University; Dr. Benjamin Mays, President of Morehouse College; Dr. Ira DeC Reid, eminent sociologist and writer of Atlanta University; and Dr. Rayford Logan, professor of History at Howard University. The president of the Association, Mr. William Cooper of the Extension Department of Hampton Institute and recently of the OWI will preside.

Again this year, an institute and special interest groups on Visual Education, Religion, Drama and other subjects will be held.

Miss L. K. Frazier, Mr. W. A. Miller, and Mr. J. R. Pirtot will be representatives from the Newport News Teachers Association.

Prominent Educators To Be Guests At Huntington

Huntington High School is to be significantly honored on November 30, December 1, and 2, when seven prominent educators will enter school for the purpose of helping students and faculty members to study problems and offer suggestions for re-vitalizing and improving our work here.

For the past five years Huntington has been a member of the Study conducted by the Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges and as a result has enjoyed the privileges of being evaluated and having the aid of many specialists.

In this group of visitors are included the following: Mr. W. A. Robinson of Atlanta, Georgia, Director of the Secondary School Study; Mr. Brown, consultant associated with the Study; Mr. J. A. Tansley, Principal of Dudley High School, Greensboro, North Carolina; Mrs. Margaret McDonald Ward, Member of the Visiting Staff of the Study; Dr. Edna Colson, Virginia State College; Dr. Eva Mitchell, Hampton Institute; and Professor C. W. Florence, Virginia Union University, Richmond, Va.

Students Appointed On Faculty Activities Committee

Contrary to usual practices, the Student Council, the administrative club at Huntington, has been listed as a regular club and holds its meetings each Wednesday at Activities period in Room 107.

Headed the council this year is Annie Holley, a capable leader and an outstanding student. Other officers of the council are: Lawrence Brown, vice president; Louvinia Anderson, secretary; Neider Brown, assistant secretary and Lawrence Lucas, treasurer.

Sr. Class Selects Huntington Staff

Heading the 1943 Huntington Staff as Editor-in-Chief is Annie Holley and assisting her in the publication of the book are the following Associate Editors: Charles Reid and Leonard Ballou; Literary Editors: Martha Brown and Alice King; Art Editors: Samuel Butts and Kenneth Travis; Advertising Manager: Joseph Rainey; Assistant Advertising Managers: William Brown, Thaddeus Hayes, Charles Hamlin and Lawrence Birchette; Business Managers: Raymond Carter and Yulius Joe; Staff Photographers: Lynwood Williamson, Midgett Parker and Metz Rollins.

Besides the class assessment of six dollars per capita for the Huntingtonian, the Ways and Means Committee suggested various activities to help raise finance for the publication. A committee to plan a two-day carnival was asked to have a report ready for the next meeting.

The Staff Photographers have been present at each game to take pictures of the game and the Band, and it is believed that the 1943 publication will be one of the best in the history of the school.

The February seniors have been asked to make appointments with Mr. Davis at the Hollywood Studio for their pictures.

Ten Additions To Hi School Faculty

This semester finds at Huntington ten new faculty members. These persons come to fill vacancies caused by resignations and marriages of former teachers.

Coming to Huntington from the principality of the Wilson School, Florence, S. C., is Mr. L. F. Buckner. Mr. Buckner is a graduate of Clinton College and holds a master's degree from Columbia University.

Mr. Paul E. Bowes is a native of Fredericksburg, Va., and received his A. B. degree from Howard University and his M. A. degree from Columbia University.

Taking the place of Miss Carolyn Parker is Miss Ida Bassette who is a graduate of Hampton Institute. Miss Bassette formerly taught at the Stephen Long High School, Pocomoke, Md.

Miss Ada Cheatham, teacher of English and Social Studies, received her A. B. degree from Knoxville College and in June will be awarded the master of arts degree from Columbia University.

The position formerly held by Mr. Fred Lewis is now filled by Mr. Arthur Ware, a graduate of Virginia State College.

Miss Alice Allen comes from Atlanta, Ga. She was educated in the schools of that city, having been graduated from Spelman and having received her master of arts degree in History from Atlanta University.

Miss I. B. Perry, teacher of Math and Science, is a product of Hampton Institute and has done several summers of work at New York University. She was formerly a teaching principal at the Brooks School, Prince Frederick, Md.

Mr. Noel Pleasant, another teacher of Math, is a graduate of Clarke College, Atlanta, Ga.

Dramatic Class Presents "Which Way To Boston"

"Which Is The Way To Boston," a one act play will be given by the Dramatic Class in the assembly, December 9. The cast includes: John Harvey, Willie Thumt, Christopher, Joseph Rainey, Martha, Annie Holley, Mary, Grace Brooks, Director: Mr. C. H. Jones.

The play deals with John Harvey and his wife, Martha Harvey, residents of a rural community which abounds in superstition. There is one superstition which the Harveys dread. That is "Death will visit the house to which a certain man goes and asks the way to Boston."

When Mary, the Harvey's niece, and her husband, Chris, come to see a cousin who is a patient in the hospital, the Harveys fear that they will have the dreaded visitor. Mary and Chris try to talk them out of the superstition, but fail.

What happens to Anne and the Harveys as a result of the belief? Does the visitor come to the house and ask the way to Boston? How are Mary and Chris affected by the superstition? These questions will be answered in the play.

School Bus Inaugurated At Huntington

A bus service for the transportation of students who live in the uptown district to and from school was inaugurated last Monday. The first day only one bus was operated but it was found that one was insufficient so another was added and now both are filled to capacity.

Formerly students from as far as Ivy Avenue have had to walk to school in inclement weather and often when they arrived they were wet to the skin.

The bus schedule is: Leaves 18th Street and Jefferson Avenue, 8:20; Leaves Jefferson Avenue and 20th Street, 8:21;

Leaves 20th Street and Madison Avenue, 8:23;

Leaves Madison Avenue and 18th Street, 8:24;

Leaves 18th Street and Marshall, 8:25;

Leaves Marshall Avenue and 20th, 8:26;

Leaves Hampton and Marshall, 8:28; Proceeds East on Hampton to Wickham;

Arrives: Huntington High School, 8:30.

Many feel that the inauguration of the bus service will do much to aid in decreasing tardiness and increasing regularity of attendance.

THE 1942 VIKINGS

Going back to the traditional date this year, our Thanksgiving will be held on the fourth Thursday, November 26, on Wednesday, November 25, the school will initiate the season of thanks with a program sponsored by the Freshman Class.

Included on the program is a Thanksgiving Play entitled "Giving Thanks Today." The play sets forth the idea that as American citizens we have much for which to be thankful. The other numbers on the program are: Thanksgiving songs by a Freshman Chorus, a Litany of Thanks, instrumental selections, and a dialogue "Thanksgiving Then and Now."

The dialogue contrasts the manner of celebrating Thanksgiving in 1620 and our manner today. The Freshmen are planning to collect gifts for the children at the Weaver Orphan Home and make the presentation at the program. The class president, James Patterson will preside.

Huntington Has Many Out of Town Students

Due to the great influx of defense workers and their families in our community, the beginning of this semester found the enrollment at Huntington greatly increased by the addition of many new students from cities throughout the State and the nation. These students are scattered from the first year high school to the fourth.

In the first year are: Carol Smith, Brookville School, Newport News; Edith Hicks, Armstrong High, Richmond, Virginia; Geneva Williams, Vaux Junior High, Philadelphia, Pa.; and Lloyd Buckner, Wilson High School, Florence, S. C.

Second year students are: Ann Hainston, Stuart High, Roanoke, Va.; Frances Lane, Brick High, Brick, N. J.; and Ivan McEachin, Palmer Memorial Institute, Scandia, N. C.

The students in the third year are: Lelia Sams, Coconut Grove High, Coconut Grove, Florida; Thomas Byrdson, Morrison High, Morrison, Va.; and Jeanelle Williams, Brawley High, Scotland Neck, N. C.

Seniors are: Joseph Hones, Manassas County Training School, Suffolk, Va.; Birtley Crump, New Kent Training School, Quantico, Va.; and four students, Iner and Vernelle Banks, Eva Wynn, and Euterine Christian, from Morrison High, Morrison, Va.

These students have adapted themselves to Huntington and report that they like it very much.

Junior Red Cross Plans Gift Boxes For Service Men

Last week the Junior Red Cross Council reorganized with Mr. Paul E. Bowes, Faculty sponsor. The Council is composed of twenty-three members, one representative from each homeroom.

The work of the Council now takes on added significance since our country is engaged in the war. The Council was responsible for the collection of Christmas boxes which were sent to children in the foreign lands. Mrs. C. W. Mugler, head of the Red Cross in the City of Newport News, said that she was very grateful for the hearty response given her request for gifts for these boxes. She stated that the children contributed marbles, bows for the hair, socks, mittens, dolls, cigarettes for the adults, soap, and candy. In the boxes was nine dollars with which they purchased toys and flags. In each of the boxes was placed an American flag.

The Junior Red Cross Council participated in a city-wide rally on November 9, at which time a program was rendered and contributions were accepted.

The activities of the Council include the making of sweaters for soldiers, collection of magazines and books for the camps, the collection of games for the soldiers to play on board ship and making bags for Christmas gifts. These bags are to contain warm socks, cigarettes, soap, and any other article that the soldiers would like.

Classes In Commercial Courses Given

In an effort to help many people become qualified to accept war jobs, Hampton Institute through its Extension Department is offering courses in Typewriting and Shorthand. These courses may be taken for twelve dollars a semester and are conducted each Tuesday evening from 6:30 to 8:30 at the John Marshall School. Thus far seventy-seven persons have enrolled in the classes.

There is a great demand for typists, junior and senior clerks and stenographers. The United States is willing to pay $1200 to $1600 for the services of persons skilled in these fields.

With aid coming from the E. S. M. W. T., a Citizens' Committee is trying to arrange for classes in radio communications and repairing, welding, foreman training, office management, and other subjects.

Courses in cost-accounting and bookkeeping have already been started. There is no charge for none of the courses sponsored by the Citizens' Committee. The only stipulation is that one must buy his own books.

Huntington To Organize Victory Corps

At the last meeting of the Student Council, the group discussed the organization of Huntington of a Victory Corps. The Corps is "The establishment in each secondary school of a schoolwide organization consisting of all pupils who are engaged in war services or preparing for participation in the war effort."

The Victory Corps headed by John W. Studebaker has three reasons for existing: (1) There is a war to be won, a war which demands unsifted work, sacrifice, and devotion of every one of us; (2) The high schools are potential sources of trained manpower; and (3) The high schools should prepare youth for War Production and Essential Community Services.

In order to provide for uniformity through the Nation in the organizational pattern, five divisions are provided for: Air Service, Land Service, Sea Service, Production, and Community Service.

General membership in the Corps is open to all students enrolled in secondary schools and is won by: (1) Participation in a physical fitness program; (2) Studying courses with a view to their future usefulness in the nation and (3) current participation in at least one important continuing wartime service such as USO volunteer, Red Cross services or some form of defense activity.

Ruth McRae Elected President Of 1943 Class

Approximately one hundred seniors meeting in the Music Room voted to retain Ruth McRae, Junior class president, as president of the 1943 class. Other officers elected were: vice president, Metz Rollins; secretary, Marian Washington; assistant secretary, Neider Brown and treasurer, Thomas Falen.

In accepting the office of class president, Miss McRae stated: "I appreciate the confidence my fellow students have shown me in selecting me the second time to guide the destinies of the class. As in the past, so in the future, I am happy to serve you. With your cooperation, we can accomplish many things. I hope this will be our most successful and enjoyable school year."

Two committees, the Ways and Means and Program, were named. Julia Artis, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, chose Lynwood Williamson, Leonard Ballou, Samuel Butts, and Thomas Falen. The Program Committee with the aid of the Faculty Committee has the responsibility of planning the Senior Assemblies, Glass Night Activities, and Commencement Activities.

At this meeting the seniors voted unanimously to undertake the publication of a Huntingtonian.

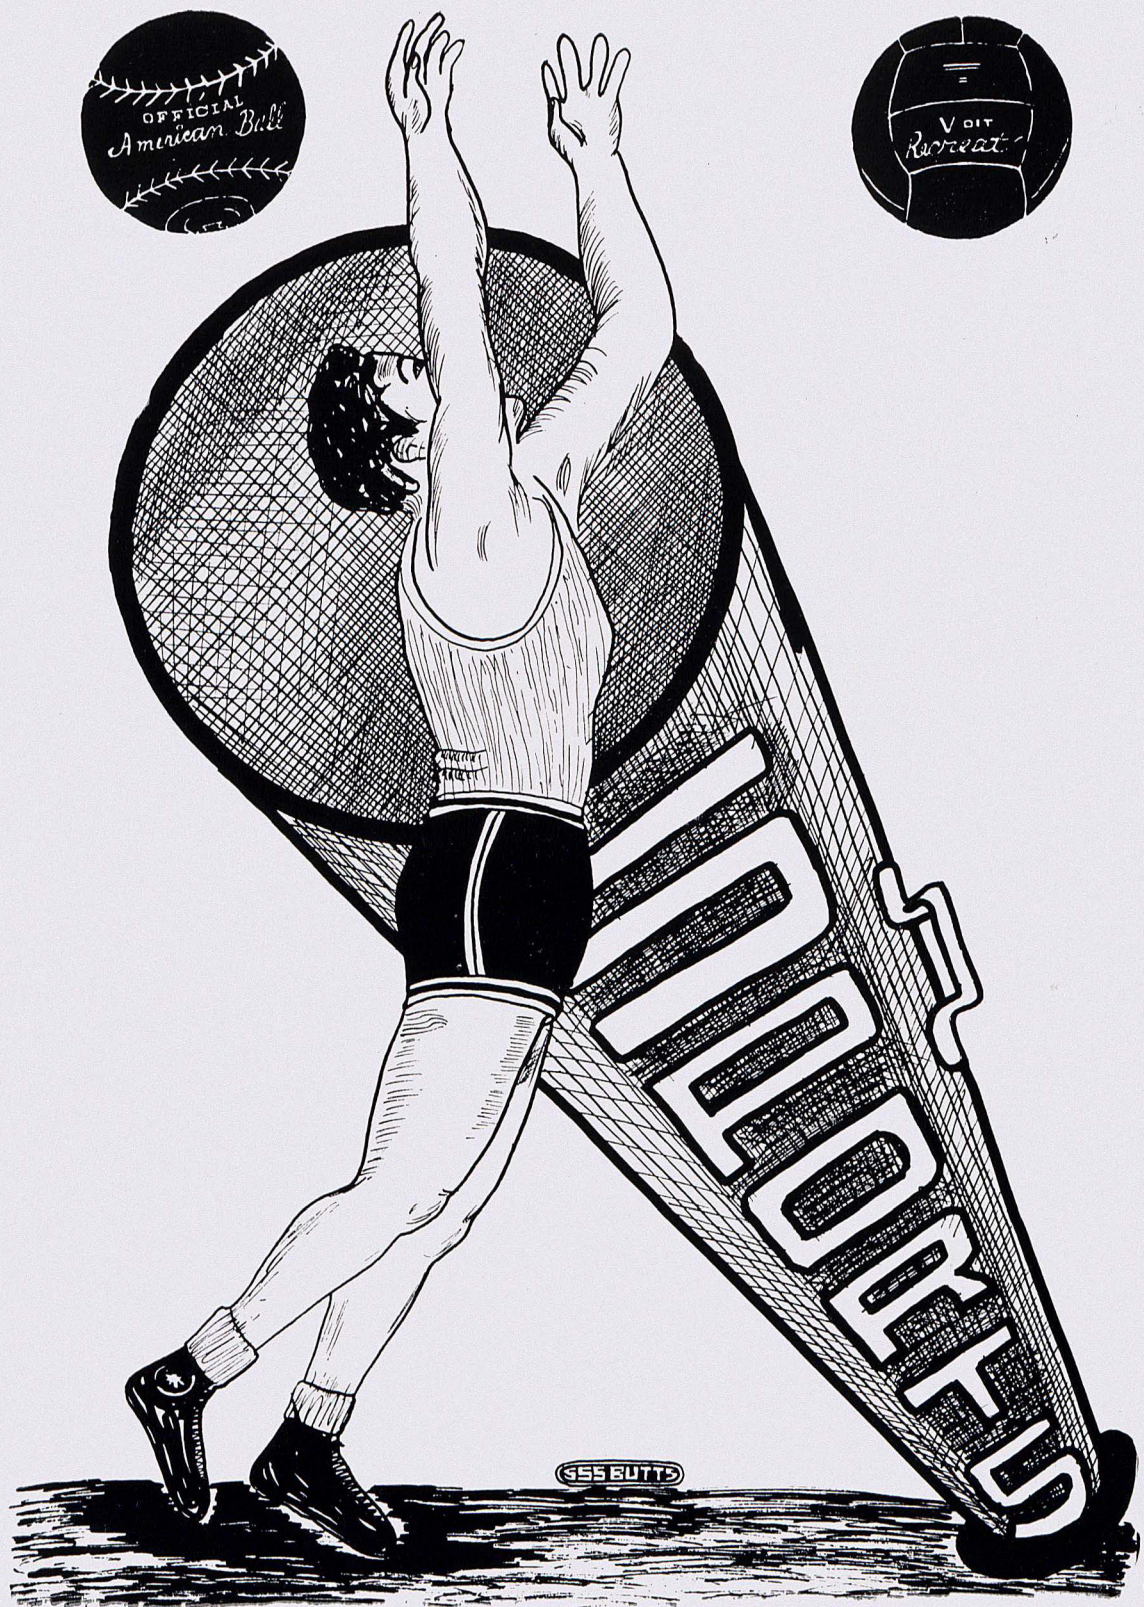

Miss Elizabeth Spivey, Messieurs W. A. Miller, M. T. Frazier, and James W. Ivey are the faculty sponsors.

WIT AND HUMOR

Brown—"I got into trouble in school today."

Mother—"How?"

Brown—"The teacher asked me to name an invention by which we can take photographs through walls and all I said was, 'A window'."

Q

Teacher—"Who can tell me what an island is?"

Mary—"I can, teacher. It's a piece of land that went out for a swim."

Q

Mr. Jones—"Define Hades. Now use it in a sentence."

Student—"Your class, Mr. Jones, is Hades to me."

Teacher—"Name twelve animals of the polar regions."

John—(After much thought) "Six seals and six polar bears."

Q

Miss K.—"What is a veterinarian?"

Pupil—"A man who served in the last World War."

History Prof.—"Jones, can you tell me who built the Sphinx?"

Jones—"Wait a minute please; it's on the tip of my tongue, but I can't say it. I must have forgotten."

History Prof.—"How unfortunate! You are the only living man who knows and you have forgotten."

Tsk! Tsk! He was a window washer and stepped back to admire his work.

Patient: "Have you been a dentist very long?"

Dentist: "No, I was a riveter till I got too nervous to work up high."

A football coach was explaining a few plays to the earnest substitutes. He said: "Joe, suppose the pose the ball is on the four yard line, last down, one minute to play, and we are three points behind, what would you do?"

Joe: "I'd move down the bench farther where I could see better" was Joe's reply.

Girl: "Would you come to my aid in distress?"

Boy: "My dear, it wouldn't make any difference what you were wearing."

Q

When told that his wife was outspoken the husband replied, "By whom?"

Q

Dad: "Mary that young man of yours seems to be a lazy good-for-nothing chisler. What has your mother said about him?"

Mary: "She said men have not changed much since her time."

Q

All that is necessary to be in the army is to be able to see lightning, hear thunder and possess a tooth.

Q

The tenor who sang last night reminded me of a pirate.

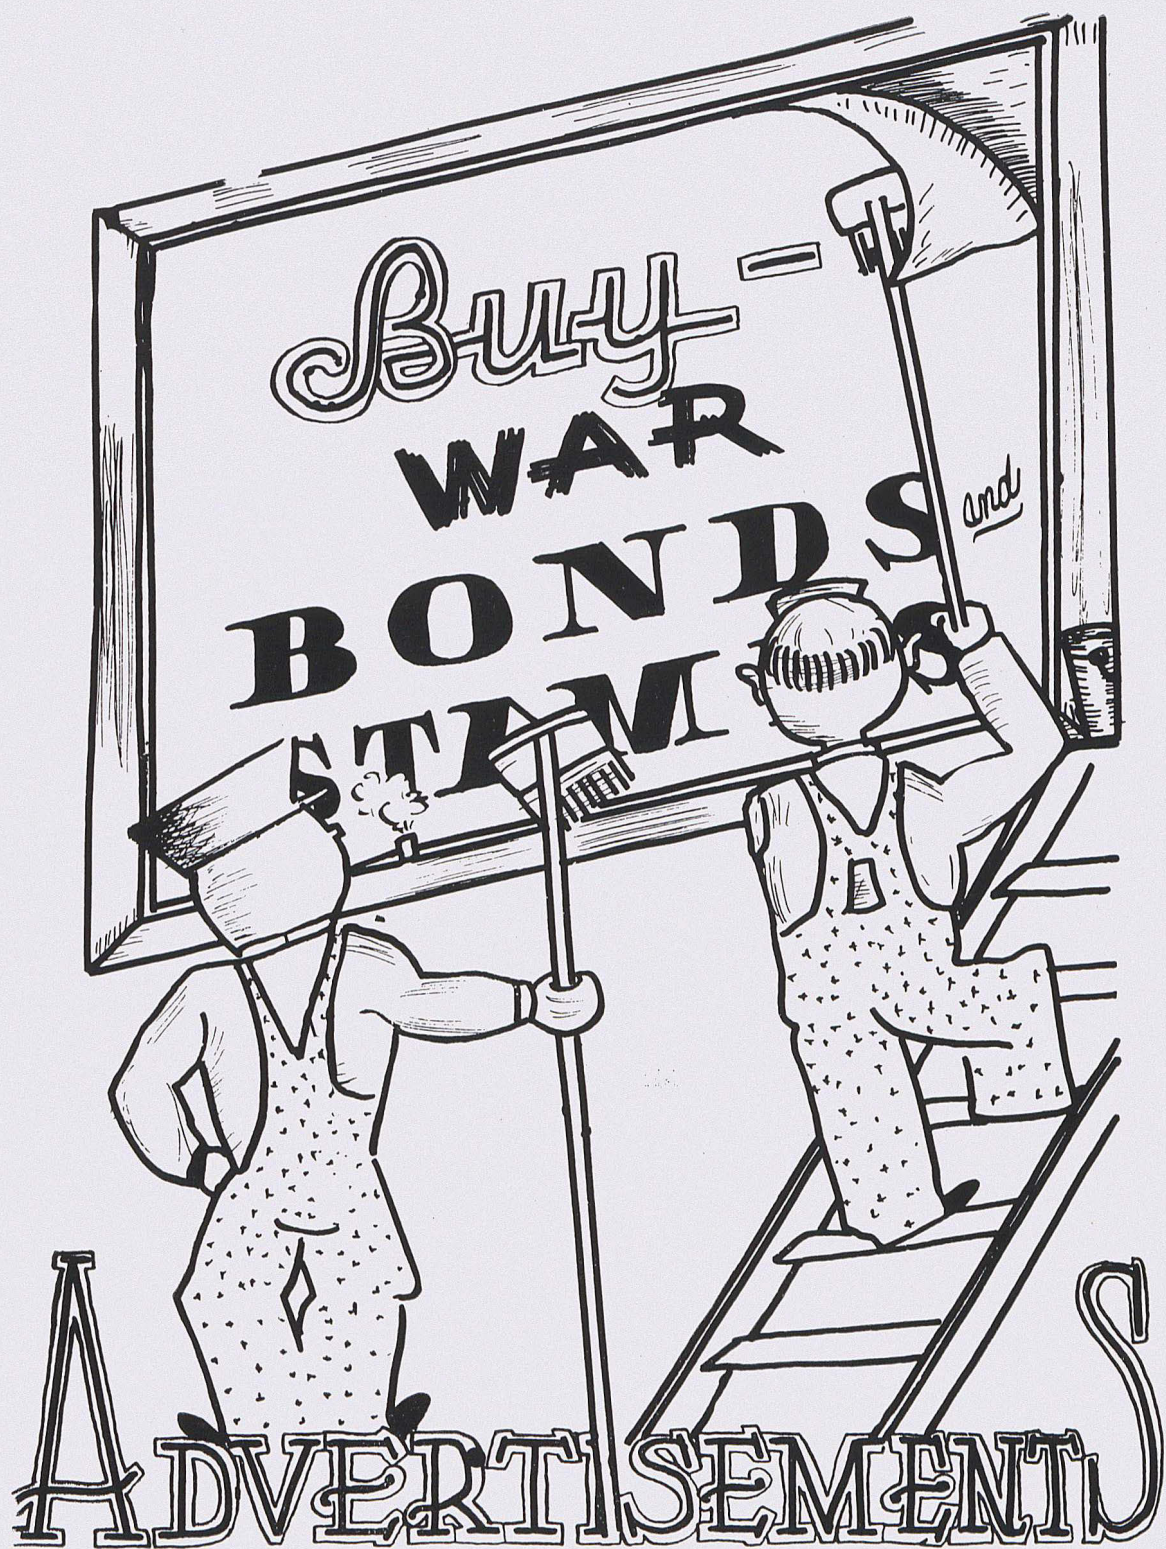

Howso?

Because he did murder on the high C's.
